

2018 Co-learning program Report

Project title

Virtual laboratory experience by PVP to show the charm of ISTC to the world.

Concept of the project

Our purpose is to increase foreign students who study in Doshisha University.

For that, an important point is that we convey to students around the world the mood and the atmosphere of the campus and the laboratory just as they would feel if they should be here. So we created a Web site with PVP.

Contents

We held a meeting every week and discussed the direction of the project, the contents, selection of the vendor and verification of the HP and booklets about ISTC. Then, we selected the vendor who would make the PVP and the HP, and we negotiated with the vendor. We discussed the filming schedule, the conception of details of the content, and the examination of the subject. At the same time, we decided to select a laboratory where we wanted to take movies and pictures. We made an appointment with the selection of the laboratories and the professors, and shared the information with the group, and made the schedule adjustment by creating a timetable on the day of shooting. On the day of the shooting, thank you to the professors, traders who was negotiating in advance, foreign students, the filming schedule for two days was finished so smoothly. After that, we translated the experimental videos and research contents of each laboratory into English and repeated the calibration of the PVP with the trader.

Consequentially, PVP was published to the homepage of the university in April safely.

Through this project, we learned "the spirit of step forward" , "subjectivity" , "the motivation to work on anything" . Moreover, during the project, we achieve mastery of "thinking skills" , "discovering problem" and "imagination". In the process of making the HP, we faced various problems. We have found our best solutions to all problems by continuing our discussions until we are convinced. These abilities grow our skill of working in a team. Its mean that our "listening skills" and consider precisely the situation.

Additionally, we could gain our knowledge by interacting with the international students.
